Setting the Scene

I am a neighbor of the defendant and live two houses down. On the night of the incident, I was sitting on my porch around 9 PM. I am testifying as a witness during direct examination.

Statement (Objection #1)

I heard from another neighbor that the defendant was yelling earlier that day, so they were probably angry when the incident happened.

Objection Explanation (Hearsay)

This statement is hearsay because the witness is repeating what someone else said instead of what they personally saw or experienced. The information cannot be verified because the original speaker is not in court to be questioned.

Statement (Objection #2)

I think the defendant is the kind of person who would do something like this because they seem aggressive.

Objection Explanation (Opinion)

This is an opinion because the witness is making a personal judgment rather than stating facts. There is no evidence to support this claim, and witnesses are only supposed to testify about what they directly observed.
